PREPARE NOW FOR SPRING RUNOFF FLOODING

by Chief Booth

Snowpack is currently about 160% of normal in the Provo River drainage. Heber City recommends the public be prepared for spring runoff. If your home is by a canal, creek, in a flood plain, or if you have experienced flooding before – you may want to consider the purchase of sand and sandbags. Sand bags are typically available at your local hardware, home improvement, concrete supply, farm, tractor, and ranch supply businesses. The most economical way to purchase sand is through local gravel pits/aggregate providers.

Just like carrying insurance, you must plan for what is your responsibility, and defense of personal property against flooding is the homeowner's responsibility. Although the City may be in a position to assist private property owners with some resources, severe flooding would necessitate the City to focus on community infrastructure and not individual properties.

If you have concerns about flooding, we would recommend that you consult your local insurance agent to evaluate your flood insurance coverage.
